(1588-1649) John Winthrop

First Colonial Governor of Massachusetts. Born at Edwardston, Suffolk, England. In 1630, he left England for America being among the first Salem Colonists. He was made Governor of the Colony & was Governor almost continuously till his death. Winthrop kept an elaborate journal covering the whole period of his life in Massachusetts; the work is of inestimable value as a part of the early history of the state.

Swedish military aid saved the Protestant cause. In 1630 an Army led by King Gustavus Adolphus landed in Germany and, with a subsidy from the French government and assistance from many German Protestant states routed the Imperialists at Breitenfeld (1631) and drove them from much of Germany. The Protestant revival continued until in 1634 a Spanish army intervened and at NÖRDLINGEN defeated the main Swedish field Army and forced the Protestants out of Southern Germany.

TAJ MAHAL

One of the world's most beautiful buildings is the tomb built by SHAH JEHAN, emperor of India, for his beloved wife - the TAJ MAHAL. It stands on a high terrace overlooking a long, clear pool, in which its gleaming dome and graceful arches are reflected. The pool has cypress trees on three of its sides, and at the end is the TAJ MAHAL and four slender towers, one at each corner of the terrace. The dome and walls are made of marble and alabaster, in places so delicately thin that daylight dimly reaches the vault in the interior. On the outside of the walls, inlaid in precious gems, are writings from the sacred book of Islam, the KORAN
